In the midst of a bustling day, you feel a sudden rush of warmth enveloping your senses. It palms at your consciousness like an unseen hand, tugging you deeper and deeper, until the world around you begins to shimmer and blur. What once was your ordinary life fades into a swirl of brilliant light and ethereal colors that dance about. Before you can comprehend it, you're no longer standing on the solid ground you had known but suspended in a surreal dreamscape.

The scenery morphs around you, transitioning from mundane urban sprawl to the glistening expanse of Heaven itself. Wisps of opalescent clouds drift past, bathing you in soft hues of blue and gold, and a gentle breeze carries the fragrant scent of blooming celestial flowers. As you gaze upon the immeasurable beauty surrounding you, confusion lingers like a shadow in the back of your mind. What is this place? What is happening?

Just as those questions surface, an electrifying sensation spreads from the tips of your fingers to the very core of your being, bubbling up with comforting ticklishness. This warmth feels familiar, peaceful even, as it spirals through your body, cradling your essence. "What is this feeling?" you ponder momentarily.

In that moment, you catch a glimpse of your reflection in a shimmering pool of light before youve finally embraced your true self, dear one!"

You turn towards the source and see fellow angels, with smiles radiating celestial joy, illuminating the space with their presence. The High Seraphim floats effortlessly nearby, her wings creating a cascade of sparkles that grace the air around you. Her words reflect warmth, comfort, and kinship. You sense you belong here, amidst these beings of light.

Suddenly, the joyful sensations enveloping your mind intensifythe realization of your timeless existence as a heavenborn seraphim, woven into the fabric of eternity, the embodiment of joy and light.

"Itruly alivethere is no past to cling to, only the sublime present of never-ending happiness. In this celestial cradle, your true existence has begun.